Product Type

RJ45 female-to-female Keystone coupler

Network Category

CAT6A / Class EA

Key features

- RJ45 Female-to-Female: Joins two preterminated cables
- it is not an IDC jack for inserting conductors without connectors.
- Keystone Mounting: Installation requires a compatible opening, retaining tab and depth
- the Keystone format does not guarantee a universal fit.
- Unshielded Version: For UTP connections
- does not maintain shielding in a shielded installation.
- Service and Maintenance: Allows preterminated cables to be disconnected and replaced. Check the link after modifying the connection.
- Channel Selection: Performance depends on the complete channel, its components, length and terminations. This accessory's category alone does not upgrade an existing installation's category.
